relevant times, neither RAHIM nor Faysal Bank conducted business with Credit Suisse.

Credit Suisse's Confidentiality Policy

4. At all relevant times, Credit Suisse maintained written policies prohibiting the premature dissemination of material non-public and confidential information relating to pending transactions and financings in which Credit Suisse was involved. At or about the time HAFIZ MUHAMMAD ZUBAIR NASEEM, the defendant, commenced his employment at Credit Suisse, he was provided with a copy of Credit Suisse's "Global Business Conduct Manual," and certified that he had read the document. NASEEM also signed a "Confidential Information and Proprietary Information Acknowledgment" in which he specifically acknowledged his understanding of various Credit Suisse policies and his obligation to comport with these policies as a Credit Suisse employee. Among other things, NASEEM acknowledged that:

I understand it is a criminal offense to trade or encourage others to trade on inside information. I also may face civil liability and regulatory sanctions for disclosing or using Confidential and Proprietary information inappropriately.

5. The Global Business Conduct Manual defined "inside information" as information that "relates to the securities of an issuer or group of issuers, is not publicly known and is material." The Manual defined as "material for this purpose" information that "if made public, would likely have a significant impact on the price of the security, or a reasonable investor would consider important in deciding whether to purchase, hold or sell the security." Furthermore, the Global Business Conduct Manual specifically admonished that:

If you have inside information, you generally may not trade or deal in the securities in question, encourage others to trade or deal in the securities in question, or reveal or 'tip' the information to another person, other than in the proper performance of your job.

Failure to strictly observe the laws and rules regarding inside information is a criminal offense in many jurisdictions where Credit Suisse conducts business.

The Insider Trading Scheme

6. At various times relevant to this Indictment, Credit Suisse provided financial services and investment banking advice and services to the Credit Suisse clients listed below, in connection with business combination transactions (the "Credit Suisse Transactions"). While employed at Credit Suisse, HAFIZ MUHAMMAD ZUBAIR NASEEM, the defendant, had access to material, non-public information concerning the Credit Suisse Transactions listed below:

7. From in or about March 2006 through at least in or about February 2007, HAFIZ MUHAMMAD ZUBAIR NASEEM and AJAZ RAHIM, the defendants, and others, known and unknown, participated in a scheme to defraud by executing securities transactions based on material, nonpublic information regarding forthcoming announcements relating to the Credit Suisse Transactions listed in paragraph 6 above. HAFIZ MUHAMMAD ZUBAIR NASEEM, the defendant, regularly and repeatedly called AJAZ RAHIM, the defendant, and provided RAHIM with material non-public information regarding the Credit Suisse Transactions (the "Credit Suisse Inside Information") in violation of (a) the fiduciary and other duties of trust and confidence owed by NASEEM to Credit Suisse and its clients, (b) the expectations of confidentiality of the Credit Suisse clients; and (c) Credit Suisse's written policies regarding the use and safekeeping of confidential and material, non-public information. NASEEM provided the Credit Suisse Inside Information to RAHIM for personal benefit.

8. To carry out the scheme, HAFIZ MUHAMMAD ZUBAIR NASEEM, the defendant, typically called AJAZ RAHIM, the defendant, at his home or on RAHIM's cell phone in advance of a public announcement that a particular target company listed in paragraph 6 above was to be acquired by another entity and NASEEM provided Credit Suisse Inside Information to RAHIM regarding the acquisition in question (hereafter, the target companies listed in paragraph 6 above are referred to as the "Issuers"). Shortly after receiving such a call RAHIM purchased securities of that Issuer based on the Credit Suisse Inside Information he received from NASEEM. Following public disclosure that an Issuer was being acquired -- which always occurred after RAHIM had already purchased securities in that particular Issuer -- RAHIM quickly sold all of the securities he had purchased in advance of the public disclosures. RAHIM executed dozens of securities transactions, including trades in offshore accounts, based on Credit Suisse Inside Information and profited from his trading in the securities of each of the Issuers. RAHIM's trading generated total proceeds from the scheme in excess of $9 million and profits in excess of $7.5 million.

The Conspiracy

9. From at least in or about April 2006 up to and including in or about February 2007, in the Southern District of New York and elsewhere, HAFIZ MUHAMMAD ZUBAIR NASEEM and AJAZ RAHIM, the defendants, and others known and unknown, unlawfully, willfully, and knowingly did combine, conspire, confederate and agree together and with each other to commit offenses against the United States, to wit, securities fraud, in violation of Title 15, United States Code, Sections 78j(b) & 78ff, and Title 17, Code of Federal Regulations, Sections 240.10b-5 and 240.10b5-2.

b. NASEEM, in breach of his duty of confidentiality to Credit Suisse and its clients, disclosed the Credit Suisse Inside Information that he had misappropriated from Credit Suisse and the Credit Suisse clients to RAHIM, with the understanding that RAHIM would use the Credit Suisse Inside Information to purchase and sell securities, and thereby receive substantial illegal profits.

c. RAHIM, while in possession of the Credit Suisse Inside Information that he knew had been misappropriated by NASEEM in breach of NASEEM's duty to keep such information confidential, purchased and sold securities based on such information and thereby received substantial illegal profits.
